Apprenticeships:
Employee earning and learning whilst gaining valuable professional knowledge, skills and behaviour on the job, that are relevant to their specialist field.

Advantages to the employer

Rebuild, retrain, retain, and develop a sustainable long-term workforce. Develop high-calibre staff to tackle skill shortage. Secure the best new talents. Improve service and increase productivity. Adapt training according to business needs. Raise organisation profile.

Requirements prior to End Point Assessment

English and maths Level 2 must be achieved prior to completing your end point assessment. For those with an education, health and care plan or legacy statement, the requirement is Level 3. British Sign Language is an alternative for whom this is their primary language.

ASSOCIATE PROJECT MANAGER

Associate project managers need good planning, organisation, leadership, management, and communication skills. They utilise resources with suitable skills, qualifications, experience, and knowledge to work together in an integrated team, with clearly defined reporting lines, roles, and responsibilities. An associate project manager knows what needs to be achieved, how it will be achieved, how long it will take and how much it will cost and works with the project team to achieve the required outcomes. Dependent upon the size of the organisations and the complexity of projects, associate project managers' job titles will vary, but typically they can include assistant project manager, junior project manager, project team leader.

Advantages to the employee

Earn while learning. Achieve recognised qualification. Gain knowledge and skills relevant to specialised field. Ensuring continuation of professional development.
