

Book Simulation Training for your PLT event

Simulation Training

Simulation offers a unique way of learning and the sessions are designed to enable participants to learn about the clinical management of the scenario and the non technical and human factors around teamwork, communication and leadership in a safe environment.

Simulation training recreates various emergency situations that can happen in Primary Care settings and helps Primary Care staff prepare and react as a team with speed and efficiency.

Benefits to your practice/PCN

Simulation Training benefits both clinical and non-clinical members of staff; it helps improve group dynamics and the entire team to work together in an efficient, collaborative manner to be ready for potential emergency situations and react to the best advantage of patients.

The session also helps highlight the valuable roles of non-clinical colleagues.

How it works

The practical, hands-on course can include up to 3 different clinical scenarios per session. To maximise the learning, we recommend a limit of 14 people for each scenario, but in an afternoon can run 3 consecutive sessions allowing for up to 45 people to benefit from the training. The learning can be shared and discussed with other team members at further practice or PCN-based meetings.

Here's what participants say:

"Really engaging course, with organisers who encouraged open and honest discussion"

There is no cost to the practice or PCN

"This was the best and most useful training I have ever been on."
